DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: proper antecedent basis should be provided for the claimed limitation "computer program code" in claims 12-17.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.
- 3. Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Xu (U.S. Patent No. 6,829,313).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome

Application/Control Number: 09/974,020

Art Unit: 2634

either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Regarding claims 1, 12 and 18, Xu teaches a method of processing an information sequence with a decoder, comprising: selecting a window within the information sequence (204 in Fig. 17); calculating a training period for the window (206 in Fig. 17; col. 18, lines 14-22; col. 7, lines 49-51); and initializing at least one recursion of the window based on the calculated training period (208 in Fig. 17; col. 18, lines 23-28). Xu teaches a processor (col. 6, line 53) to perform the method, which reads on the claimed program code in claim 12.

Regarding claim 2, the recursion is a forward recursion (col. 18, line 24).

Regarding claim 3, the recursion is a backward recursion (col. 18, line 24).

Regarding claims 4, 13 and 19, Xu further teaches dividing the information sequence into at least two windows (col. 18, line 10).

Regarding claims 5, 6, 8, 9, 14-17 and 20-23, Xu teaches that the training period is calculated as a function of signal quality (col. 7, line 50) and the signal quality is a function of the window size L (col. 10, lines 13-14) and a function of iteration iter (col. 10, lines 13-14).

Regarding claim 11, Xu further teaches selecting an additional window; and computing an additional training period for the additional window based on the training period of the window (col. 18, lines 38-42).

Regarding claim 24, Xu further teaches at least one interleaver (INT in Fig. 3).

Art Unit: 2634

Regarding claim 25, Xu further teaches at least one de-interleaver (DEINT in Fig. 3).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 7 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Classon et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,868,132), Classon et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,856,657), Eidson et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,813,743), Xu (U.S. Patent No. 6,829,313), Crozier et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,510,536).
